

The System

Default house brand for premium coach-agent artifacts, lesson recaps, slides, and branded documents.

Brand Snapshot

The System is the restrained premium default brand used when a coach-specific identity has not yet been approved. It should feel structured, intelligent, useful, and high-trust without overpowering the coach.

Role: default house-brand wrapper for early coach-agent outputs.

Posture: premium editorial, calm, precise, operationally sharp.

Boundary: fallback system, not a replacement for coach identity.

QUICK TOKENS

Identity: stacked wordmark, TS monogram, combined lockup.

Color: deep green, warm cream, restrained gold.

Type: editorial serif display + clean sans body + mono metadata.

Voice: useful, calm, premium, specific.

SOURCE STATUS

Logo assets and default brand role are source-backed from operator-approved materials.

DOWNSTREAM USE

Premium lesson recaps, slide templates, onboarding artifacts, default documents.

DESIGN RULE

Use the brand as quiet structure: chrome, hierarchy, trust — never decoration for its own sake.

Identity

The identity system uses a premium editorial lockup: stacked wordmark for primary brand moments, TS monogram for compact seals, and combined lockup for overview surfaces.

PRIMARY WORDMARK

Use for covers, title pages, opening pages, and premium brand moments.

MONOGRAM SEAL

Use for footers, badges, favicon/avatar direction, and subtle document stamps.

COMBINED LOCKUP

Use when both wordmark and monogram need to be understood together.

PAINT-BY-NUMBER IDENTITY SLOTS

Cover logo slot	Primary stacked wordmark, centered or right-card on deep green field.
Masthead slot	Small stacked wordmark or monogram, paired with a thin gold rule.
Footer slot	TS monogram as small seal; never large enough to compete with student content.

The System palette is built around deep operational green, warm editorial cream, and precise gold accents. Gold is a rule, badge, or ornament — not a large fill.

COLOR COMPONENT SLOTS

Primary field	Cover background, mastheads, major section anchors.
Accent rule	Thin separators, badges, pull-quote rules, slide title rules.
Paper surface	Main document body, cards, recap packet pages.

Typography

Typography should read like a premium private-client brief: editorial serif for hierarchy, clean sans for clarity, monospaced labels for operational metadata.

HEADING TOKEN

Structure creates trust.

Family: Playfair Display / Georgia fallback • Weight: 600–700 • Cover: 88–98px / .95 • Section: 54–60px / 1.0 • Use: cover titles, section titles, premium dividers.

BODY TOKEN

A calm, direct, useful explanation style for coaches and students.

Family: DM Sans / Aptos fallback • Weight: 400–500 • Body: 20–24px / 1.45 • Cards: 18–20px / 1.35 • Use: recap prose, cards, document body.

METADATA TOKEN

LESSON RECAP • STUDENT NOTE • SOURCE VERIFIED

Family: DM Mono / SFMono fallback • Weight: 500–700 • Labels: 11–13px / uppercase tracking .16–.20em • Use: labels, source notes, dates, packet metadata.

Visual Style

The System visual style is a premium operating layer: structured, quiet, useful, and refined. It should create confidence through clarity, not impress through noise.

Page rhythm: large margins, clear cards, visible hierarchy.

Chrome: thin gold rules, green mastheads, cream panels.

Texture: subtle editorial warmth; no generic AI stock gloss.

Density: enough substance to be useful, never cluttered.

DO / DON'T

Do: make artifacts feel like a serious private-client brief.

Do: leave room for coach-specific brand replacement.

Don't: use gradients as decoration, cartoon sports marks, or over-designed luxury cues.

Don't: let house branding overpower the coach's expertise.

“The brand should make the work feel structured, premium, and supported — not branded for branding's sake.”

Documents / Application

Coach agents should apply The System with fixed component slots so outputs are consistent across lesson recaps, slides, onboarding docs, and proof packets.

LESSON RECAP

Premium lesson recap

Use a green masthead, gold divider rule, cream cards, and restrained monogram footer. Student content stays dominant.

Recap card slot: gold left rule, serif heading, sans explanation, concise action language.

Footer: TS monogram + coach/student metadata + source note.

SLIDE TEMPLATE

Branded slide system

Use the monogram as a small seal, serif slide titles, green rules, and warm paper backgrounds.

Slide title slot: title left, gold rule below, monogram in corner; no oversized decorative mark.

Use as default until a coach-specific brand is approved.
